WHY BULLER RETREATED

Found That He Could Not Intrench and Hold Vaal Krantz.

AN IMPORTANT POINT

It Must Be Secured to Protect Any Advance to Relieve Ladysmith.

POSITION EXPOSED TO FIVE OF THE BOER HEAVY GUNS.

Rumor That Gen. Joubert Is Marching With a Column of 6,000 Men to Outflank Gen. Buller—It Is Also Reported That the Boers Have Gained a Foothold on the British Side of the Tugela—Relief of Lady-Smith Looked Upon As a Forlorn Hope.

London, Feb. 12—[Special Cablegram]—Gen. Roberts reports to the war office that he has received the following dispatch from Gen. Buller under date of Feb. 9.

"It was necessary after seizing Vaal Krantz to intrench it as a pivot to further operations. However, after trying two days to intrench I found it impracticable owing to the nature of the ground. The position was also exposed to a fire from heavy guns whose position commanded ours. It is essential to the troops advancing on Ladysmith by fordings over Mongres drift to hold Vaal Krantz. Accordingly we are not pressing an advance on these roads as we cannot make Vaal Krantz secure."

Gen. Roberts' Plan of Campaign.

London, Feb. 12—[Special Cablegram]—The arrival of Gen. Roberts at Modder river is taken to indicate that his plan is to inaugurate a campaign of invasion into the Free State from the west and the danger now threatening Kimberley is an argument that Roberts will strike soon. Should he defeat the Boers north of the Modder river he would be able to relieve Kimberley and at the same time find himself with a free hand for the march to Bloomfontien.

BRITISH TROOPS ARE OUTFLANKED

Boers Surprise Buller's Force East and West of Rensburg

Rensburg, Feb. 10.—The Boers yesterday outflanked the British in considerable force to the eastward, threatening the communications between Rensburg and Slingersfontein, twelve miles distant.

The Boers also flanked the British the same day to the westward and occupied Bastar's nek, where they located a gun this morning. They then went south to Hogkuk's farm, where the guards retired after one of them had been killed. The Boers occupied the place and drove off the cattle and also a thousand sheep, which were within the British outposts.

The Australians and Tasmanians made a plucky reconnoissance, but were forced to retire. Two Australian correspondents are believed to have been taken prisoners.

To Outflank Buller's Army.

Durban, Feb. 10.—A dispatch is published here stating that 6,000 Boers are marching to flank Gen. Buller. It does not state where they crossed the Tugela river. The movements of the Boers in Zululand are creating uneasiness here. It is expected that Eshowe will be attacked, and Greytown is apprehensive. It is reported that the Natal government is seriously considering the wisdom of arming a section of the Zulus to repel the invasion and forming a native reserve.

Reported as a Boer Defeat.

London, Feb. 12.—Gen. Sir Frederick Forestier-Walker telegraphs the war office as follows:

"Cape Town, Feb. 11.—Clements reports from Rensburg that the Boers on Feb. 9 tried to turn the right flank, but they were beaten off, and the position was maintained. The casualties were small."

Dispatches from the same source also dated Feb. 11 say:

"Kekewich, the commander at Kimberley, reports Feb. 8 that a native states that he accompanied the Boers, who have left Mafeking, and come down to Kimberley, bringing their six-inchers and quick-firing guns. A six-incher opened on Kimberley Feb. 7. Otherwise the situation is unchanged.

"The fighting force has apparently increased, and on Feb. 7 the Boers commenced the construction of trenches to the east and nearly parallel to the Glacis, 4,000 yards from the Premier mine.

"The Cape Argus says that three-fourths of the meat served in Kimberley since Jan. 1 has been horse flesh."

Lord Roberts Is at Modder.

Modder River, Feb. 10.—Field Marshal Lord Roberts, commander-in-chief of the British forces in South Africa, arrived here yesterday and was enthusiastically cheered upon his arrival.

Looked On as a Forlorn Hope.

London, Feb. 12.—The Morning Post's correspondent with Gen. Buller sends a long dispatch reviewing the situation in Natal. He says that Gen. Buller from the outset regarded the relief of Ladysmith as a forlorn hope. He adds that the second attempt to relieve the beleaguered town was nearly successful, but at the critical moment Gen. Warren shrank from ordering a bloody frontal attack on the Boer right.

Regarding the third attempt, the correspondent says that unfortunately no regular survey of the country between the Tugela river and Ladysmith exists. When Vaalkrantz was found to be an unsuitable position Gen. Buller gave the artillery one chance to kick the enemy from their positions, but the disappearing mountings and the extreme range of their guns protected them.

Would Have Cost 3,000 Men.

Perhaps it would have been possible to have thrust the enemy back off Brakfontein or Doornkloof, but it would probably have cost 3,000 men and two brigades at least are necessary to keep the door open from behind the British. Too few would have remained to attack the intrenchments on the Ladysmith plain.

Moreover, the water question was most serious. If Gen. Buller's force were only a Ladysmith relief column all might be staked on the issue of a battle, with the chances heavily against the British; but it is also the only army for the defense of Natal. Therefore Buller withdrew. Another fierce attempt will be made shortly.

The correspondent declares that the country should prepare for certain and heavy loss and possibly disappointment. The task would strain 50,000 men, while 100,000 would not be an unnecessary number.

Boers' Resources Strained.

But the engagements have not been fruitless. The Boers admit heavy loss in each day's bombardment of Spion kop and Vaalkrantz. They cannot replace a man or horse. Their resources are already strained to the utmost. One day the British captured a man of 80 years and a boy of 16.

Gen. Buller's spirit is unabated. The men only ask for a most decisive trial, believing that in spite of difficulties and numerical weakness they would outweigh the adverse chances with the bayonet. The regimental officers regard the general with sympathy and trust.

Washington, Feb. 12—[Special Telegram]—The president has decided, it is said, that the new Philippine commission shall consist of five members, three republicans and two democrats.

Manila, Feb. 12—Guerrilla warfare continues south of Manila. Two attempts have been made to ambush the Americans. Colonel Schwan, while returning to Manila with his staff and an escort of a hundred cavalry from Batangas, was attacked by the insurgents. The latter were dispersed, but the Americans have five men wounded.

Lieutenant Colonel Beacom, with six companies of the Forty-second infantry, had a two hours' fight with General Pio del Pilar's command, which attempted to ambush the Americans along the trail through Morong province, near the lake. Here also the insurgents were dispersed, but the Americans had several wounded, among them a captain

Use Burning Arrows

Of late the insurgents in Albay province, Luzon, have adopted harassing tactics against the towns which the Americans have garrisoned. They camp in the hills and maintain a constant fire upon the American outposts When the troops sally against them they scatter, returning when the Americans retire.

They shoot burning arrows and have thus burned a large part of the town of Albay. Indeed, most of the larger towns in that province are practically deserted except by the garrisons. Scarcely any of the inhabitants return to their homes. They are camping in the interior and it is supposed armed insurgents prevent them going back.

Colonel Bell will take two regiments and a battery through the provinces of North Camarines and South Camarines, going there on transports. Many insurgents retreated to that part of the island from Cavite and Batangas provinces. Another expedition will soon start to garrison towns along the north coast of the Island of Minanao.

The plague continues. Eight cases were reported last week among the natives and Chinese. There is no excitement, however and business and social life is undisturbed.

HAWAIIAN BILL SENT TO CONGRESS

Provides for a Territorial Form of Government for the Islands.

LAWS OF U. S. APPLY

The Territory Is to Be Represented By a Delegate In National Congress.

Legislature Provided Consisting of Senate and House Elected By the People—Made a Judicial District of the United States With a District Court—Indebtedness Is Limited to 7 Per cent—Governor To Be a Citizen.

Washington, Feb. 12—A very extensive report on the bill providing a territorial form of government for Hawaii was submitted to the house today by Representative W. S. Knox of Massachusetts, chairman of the committee on territories.

The reprt urges the need of haste in determining many questions of doubtful authority that have arisen since by resolution of congress the island republic was annexed to the United States.

The form of government proposed by the bill for the Hawaiian Islands is similar to that of the later territories of the United States—a governor, a secretary, both appointed by the president; a treasurer, attorney general, commissioner of public lands, commissioner of agriculture and forestry, superintendent of public works, superintendent of public instruction, auditor and deputy auditor, surveyor and high sheriff, appointed by the governor.

Legislature Is Provided

A legislature is provided, consisting of a senate and house of representatives, elected by the people, without property qualification. The territory is to be represented by a delegate in congress.

The territory is made a judicial district of the United States, with a district court. The judicial power of the territory is vested in a supreme court and in superior courts to be established by the legislature.

The constitution and laws of the United States locally applicable are extended over the new territory, and the laws of Hawaii not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of the United States are continued in force.

In 1892 the last election under the monarchy, there were 13,217 registered voters, but under the republic at the last election there were but 2,693 registered voters, 1,126 Hawaiians, 309 Americans, 247 British, the others Germans, Portuguese and Norwegians.

Biennial sessions of the legislature are provided. The number of representatives is doubled to make it a more popular body.

The total authorized indebtedness is limited to 7 per cent. of the assessed valuation of property of the islands.

Apr ovision that the governor of the Territory of Hawaii shall be a citizen of the territory is inserted.

The population of the islands is placed at more than 130,000. Of this population the greater portion are Asiatics—Chinese and Japanese. With the passage of this bill the Chinese will be excluded and the importation of Japanese contract laborers prohibited. Neither the Chinese nor Japanese have political power and were not eligible to citizenship under the Republic of Hawaii nor could they obtain homestead rights.

Of Abraham Lincoln it may be said that no college of arts had opened to his struggling youth. He was a rail-splitter; a country lawyer, practicing in many counties; he sat with his associates of the bar about the country tavern, or the country store, and exchanged stories. Yet in all these conditions and associations he was a leader—at the railsplitting, at the bar, and in the story-telling.

Most kind in speech and most placid in demeanor, and yet disturbing the public peace by his insistence that those theories of human rights which we had all so much applauded should be made practical.

A man not obstinate, but one who was under an unability to surrender a truth that his mind approved.

In the broad, commonsense way in which he did small thing he was larger than any situation in which life had placed him.

He was distinguished from the abolition leaders by the fairness and kindliness with which he judged the south and the slaveholders.

He loved the plain people, but not with a class love.

He had the love of the masses, but he won it not by art or trick.

Today he stands like a great lighthouse to show the way of duty to all his countrymen and to send afar the beam of courage to those who beat against the wind.—BENJAMIN HARRISON, Ex-President of the United States.

TROOPS WILL STAY TO INSURE PEACE

Taylor to Keep 300 Soldiers and a Gatling Gun at Frankfort.

REST HAVE GONE HOME

Wild Attempt Made Last Night to Assassinate the Acting Governor.

Danger of An Impending Feud the Like of Which Kentucky Has Never Experienced—Numerous Threats to Kill Taylor Just As Soon As He Exposes Himself—Such a Deed Would Plunge Kentucky Into Trouble.

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 12—[Special Telegram]—Not a democratic legislator has responded to Governor Taylor's call for the general assembly to meet at noon.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 12—[Special Telegram]—The democratic legislators show no sign of heeding Governor Taylors call to Frankfort. Both branches of the legislature met here this morning.

Some Troops at Frankfort

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 2—[Special Telegram]—Governor Taylor announced today that he would keep 300 soldiers and a gatling gun here to preserve order. He added that he had no intention of interfering in any way with the legislature or of preventing the freest use by that body, and by all other citizens, of the state house. The troops are to remain as a surety that there shall be no spontaneous outbreaks in the event the democratic legislators decide to return from Louisville and take part in the sessions of the republican legislature.

The republican leaders profess to believe that the democrats will return some time during the week, in spite of the announced determination of the republicans to insist that the officers elected by the rump legislature at London, and not those elected by the democrats, are the bona fida officials of the Kentucky legislature.

All day long yesterday troops poured out of Frankfort on special trains, and this morning only the soldiers from Covington, Newport, Lexington and Morgantown are camped in the capitol square.

GOV. TAYLOR WAS THE TARGET

Shots Fired at Frankfort Were Meant to Kill Him

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 12.—The shooting at the executive mansion Saturday night, it is now generally conceded, was with the intent to kill the governor. The wild attempt made by two unknown persons to assassinate Gov. Taylor while he was with his family at the executive mansion caused widespread comment upon the dangers of an impending feud, and the like of which Kentucky has not experienced. Almost every one familiar with the disordered conditions prevailing in this state thinks that an effort will be made to do Gov. Taylor bodily injury, for the reason that hundreds, even thousands, of persons are of the opinion that he was in some measure responsible for the murder of Mr. Goebel.

Since the democratic leader was shot down Mr. Taylor has received more than fifty communications assuring him that he would be killed just as soon as he exposed himself to those who sought his destruction. To all these letters Mr. Taylor paid but little attention, but since he was fired upon Saturday night he is convinced that some persons have determined to put him out of the way. Up to this time he has taken every precaution not to be seen upon the streets, except when surrounded by a heavy guard, and he has been out only three times under these circumstances. Conservative men in both political parties are doing all they can to prevent the further spilling of blood in this state, but they recognize that there are bad democrats and bad republicans, as well as good democrats and good republicans. The gravest apprehension exists that Mr. Taylor will be shot, and there is little doubt that such a happening would plunge Kentucky into a more turbulent state than she has yet been in.

In the mountains of the state there are hundreds of republicans, as well as democrats, who do not look upon assassination as seriously as some men do, and it is feared some of them will be aroused to the point of ambushing Mr. Beckham or Mr. Blackburn if Taylor is killed, and the feud thus be carried on indefinitely. The leaders in both parties admit the danger of such a situation, no matter how the political contests may be settled.

LETTERS COMPOSED ENTIRELY OF DOTS

WEEKLY PAPER FOR THE BLIND STARTED IN MILWAUKEE.

The Publisher Is Joseph Gockel, a Graduate of the State Institution for the Blind at Janesville—Printed On a Plate Perforated by a Bodkin.

A new weekly paper for the blind, The Milwaukee Weekly Review, has just been established says the Sunday Sentinel. The first number was issued Thursday, Jan. 4. Thursday is the publication day. The subscription price is $2 a year, and the subscription list already contains names from half a dozen states.

The semi centennial anniversary of the Janesville School for the Blind is to be celebrated this summer, and the subscription list will undoubtedly be considerably enlarged at that time. The new paper is devoted to news of all sorts.

New York Point System

The "New York Point" system is used. The letters are entirely composd of dots in different arrangements, raised slightly above the surface of the heavy brown paper on which it is printed It is a system that most of the blind people of the country understand and read by running their fingers along the letters of the page. The Weekly Review has eight pages about the size of legal cap. Each page contains about 300 words printed in "New York Point."

Mr. Gockel is a native of Glenhaven, Grant county, and resides on Thirty-sixth, a half block above North avenue. "There are forty three institutions for the blind in the United States" he said. "There are two systems of writing, the New York Point and the Braille. The Philadelphia paper for the blind uses the New York Point. Formerly it was printed in raised letters the Roman letters being then used The New York Point is taught in the Janesville school."

Mr. Gockel is well posted in the affairs of the day and although totally blind he walks through the city alone

Prints With a Plate.

Mr. Gokel is at present printing his paper by means of a perforated plate and sharp bodkin. This is rather a slow way of doing it, but he turns out his edition promptly. As the New York Point system is composed entirely of dots it is not difficult. "We must creep before we can walk," said he. "As soon as the paper gives signs of being a paying institution, I shall get a $250 press, which will facilitate the issse.

BLESSINGS FOR THE TRUE CHRISTIANS

Sermon by the Rev. Arthur C. Kempton at the Baptist Church Yesterday Morning.

The Rev. A. C. Kempton has returned from his eastern trip and occupied his pulpit yesterday morning and evening. In the morning he preached on the subject, "Seven Blessings for the True Christian." He said in part:

First. The promise of deliverance is here given God above knows the awfulness of the slavery of sin. It is a progressive promise.

Second. A promise of safety is here given. When the storms of life come God will lift us up above it all into places of safety.

Third. Here is given the blessing of answered prayer. God will give us what is best. He will answer us even if he does not give us just everything we ask for. We will learn what is God's will.

Fourth. God here promises us His presence. He comes to us in trouble as well as in times of peace and welfare. When we find ourselves standing alone in trouble then will our God come to us and put us underneath the everlasting arms.

Fifth. God also promises to honor us. It may sometimes seem that it is not much honor to be a christian, but it will surely come to us in some way It is a great honor to be a child of a King.

Sixth. Long life is here promised. It may be that we may not spend many years here, but the true christian will live forever

Seventh. Here is promised a view of God's salvation. The true christian will have the blessed privilege of seeing our Christ. We shall enter the gates of the beautiful city, but we shall see our great King in all of His lovliness. May God help us to accept this package of beautiful promises.

JOHN FISHER OF JANESVILLE HAS NEW SCHEME.

Thinks That the Winners of the Western Intercollegiate Events May Visit the Great French Show—Wheeler of Janesville Stands An Excellent Chance of Being One of Those to Go

John Fisher of Janesville, graduate manager of the state university athletic association, has formulated a scheme whereby the west may be represented by a star aggregation of track athletics at the Paris exposition. His plan in brief is to send the winners of first places at the western intercollegiate this summer to Paris.

It is proposed to take the money, of which there is a considerable sum, which is at present in the association treasury, to pay part of the expenses the trip and have the various colleges pay the rest in proportion of their representation on the team. Thus, if sixteen men go and Wisconsin has two men on the team the Badgers will bear one eighth of the expense. This team would compete under the auspices of the Western Intercollegiate association. It is urged that such a scheme as this would stir up interest in track athletics in the west and make the coming intercollegiate a record breaker Mr. Fisher talks quite confidently of the plan and thinks it will be pushed through.

Allie Wheeler of Janesville, is today considered one of the strongest athletes in the west and his chances for winning much fame this summer are excellent.

WHERE REPUBLICANS WILL HOLD THEIR NATIONAL CONVENTION.

BY CYRUS SYLVESTER.

Although the national Republican convention will not assemble until June 19, Philadelphia is already making preparation for the event. Where and when the Democratic national convention is to meet have not yet been determined. But the Republicans have oiled up the national machine and are getting ready to name their candidate for the presidential race.

Philadelphia, having secured the convention, is fortunate in possessing a building which will accommodate the big crowd that it takes to make such a momentous choice as that of national standard bearer for a big party. Generally it has been found necessary to put up a building for the purpose.

These temporary structures have often been barnlike, ramshackle affairs, lacking ventilation, acoustic properties and all comfortable qualities. In them the delegates have sweltered and anticipated sudden death from collapsed walls. It is almost wonderful that no serious accidents have ever marred any of the big conventions.

But the building in which Philadelphia will house the thousands of Republicans who will gather to name their presidential candidate is said to be well fitted for the purpose and far more substantial than many structures formerly used for such purposes. It was built for the National Export exposition and not only possesses architectural attractions, but is solidly built. The Philadelphians insist, too, that the big auditorium which is to be created under its roof will have all sorts of desirable qualities.

In spite of these assurances there has been made thus early in the day the complaint that the hall is much too small for the purpose. It has been said that the seating capacity will be limited to 3,000 and that the thousands of enthusiasts who are not delegates, but who attend national conventions as spectators, will be shut out.

The Philadelphia people deny this with much indignation and declare that even without alterations the auditorium will comfortably seat 6,000 persons and that when the enlargements, work on which has already been begun, are completed, the hall will be more commodious than any ever used for such purposes before. It is quite probable, too, that the Philadelphians are right.

Originally the auditorium was used as the main exposition building and was divided into several small halls. The carpenters now busy in the building will convert that portion between the north and the center pavilions into one mammoth hall. This will leave the entire north pavilion, in which is located the main entrance, for committee rooms, press bureaus, telegraph offices and anterooms. A large stage will be built behind the present concert platform, and from that, in fan shape, will be placed tiers of folding chairs.

The thin, shallow walls inclosing the present auditorium will be taken out, thus leaving a hall with solid brick walls 300 feet long and 295 feet wide. This will give a floor space of 88,500 square feet, with a seating capacity of 18,000. There will be numerous large aisles, and the hall will be free from galleries. The floor will be elevated in tiers giving a full hall.

It is estimated that it will cost about $35,000 to put the building in the desired shape. It has not been deemed necessary to put a gallery in the hall, as at first proposed. The cost of placing the building in shape for the convention includes all changes, 18,000 folding chairs, decorations and the restoration of the auditorium and the east and west arcades.

To the south of the convention hall is the center pavilion, which will be placed at the disposition of the committee and will permit of commodious restaurants, coatrooms, etc. It is claimed by Engineer In Chief John Birkinbine that this will be the best convention hall used in 30 years. The hall will be larger than that of the Madison Square Garden, which the committee from New York had in view in case it succeeded in bringing the convention to that city.

The acoustics of the great building, which are already excellent, will be further improved by the erection of an immense sounding board directly over the stage, and experts claim that the hearing properties will then surpass those of any hall ever used for a similar purpose. The new stage will be semicircular and raised in steps, so that the speaker may be seen from any point in the building, the speakers' platform being placed well forward.

The committee has also given careful attention to the matter of handling the crowds at the hall, and extensive arrangements are being made to insure order, to limit admission to the building to those having credentials or tickets and to obviate all crowding or difficulty in reaching seats.

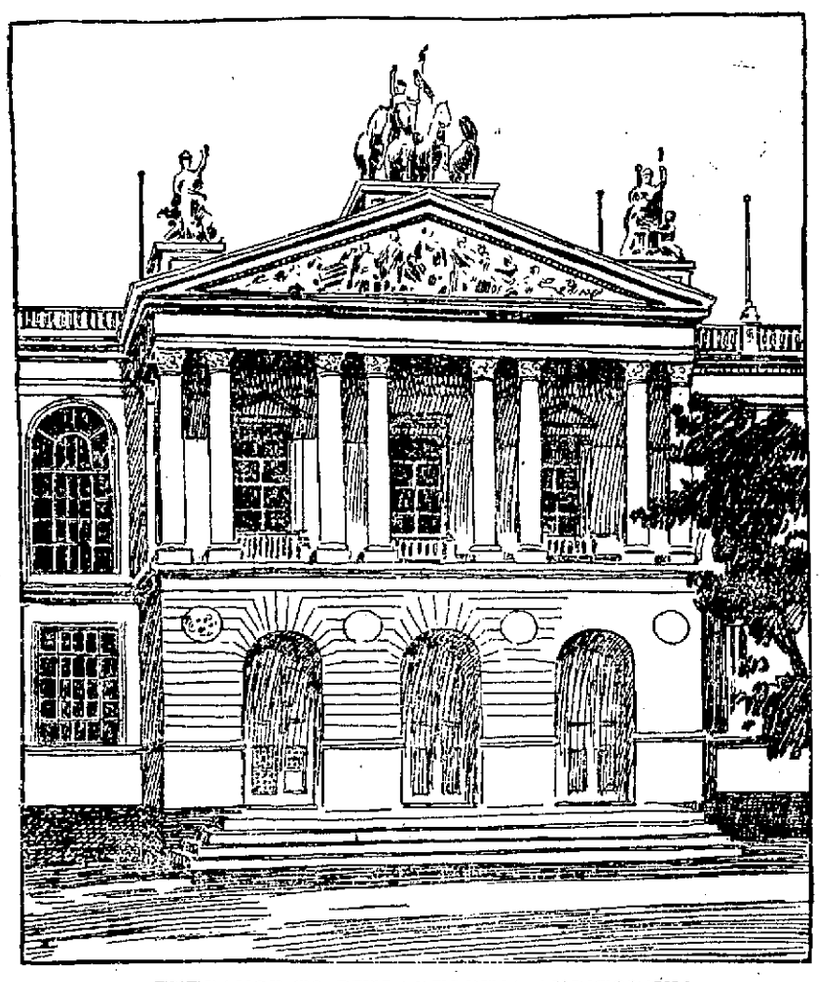

The delegates will be arranged according to states, each state having a separate section, in the center of which will rise a big placard bearing the state's name, very much as sections are arranged at the Stock Exchange. Provision is made for a small army of newspaper men and telegraphers, so that the will of the convention may be announced to the country the moment a platform is accepted and candidates are chosen.

The convention hall is located at Thirty-third and South streets, within 15 minutes ride of the heart of the city, and is surrounded by the various buildings of Philadelphia's most noted seat of learning, the University of Pennsylvania. Only half a square away is the magnificent University museum, recently opened in memory of the late Dr. Pepper, and Franklin field, the scene of many hard fought intercollegiate contests, is directly across the street. But little further removed are laboratories, dispensaries, hospitals and other buildings devoted to intellectual development.

Second only in importance to the hall problem is the question of how to provide comfortable accommodations for the incoming throng. Within an hour after the announcement of the decision of the national committee that the convention would meet in Philadelphia telegrams of inquiry began to pour into the different hotels in that city from prominent politicians in all parts of the country.

Fortunately, with two or three prominent exceptions, all the leading hotels of Philadelphia are bunched within a small radius, and it is safe to assume that the majority of the visiting politicians will find their Mecca and favorite haunts along Broad street, between Chestnut and Spruce.

The center of attraction will be the Walton, situated at Broad and Locust streets, directly across the street from the historic old Academy of Music, where in 1872 Grant was nominated for the presidency for the second time.

ENTRANCE TO PHILADELPHIA AUDITORIUM.

A Remarkable Tribute of Respect.

Mrs. Julia Ward Howe received a remarkable tribute of respect a few days ago at a gathering of Unitarian women in All Souls' church, New York. Mrs. Howe, 80 years old, but still in her prime in wit and charm, grew tired before her speech was finished, and was unable to pitch her voice so that the women in the rear could hear. "Can Mrs. Howe raise her voice?" came a call from the back. "No," replied Mrs. Howe, frankly. "I said yesterday I should not kill myself, even for this august body. You can't expect an old lady of 80 to explode in one gigantic effort." There was a ripple of laughter at this, and then the women in the back seats rose, making their way toward the front, where seats and platform were already crowded. They deliberately sat down on the floor, where they stayed throughout Mrs. Howe's address. Gray-haired women mingled with young girls in this humble position. Mrs. Howe's address was on "The Progress of the Century in Manners." There was a general call for Mrs. Howe to recite "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," which she did amid great applause.

There is no better medicine for the babies than Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Its pleasant taste and prompt and effectual cures make it a favorite with mothers and small children. It quickly cures their coughs and colds, preventing pneumonia or other serious consequences. It also cures croup and has been used in tens of thousands of cases without a single failure so far as we have been able to learn. It not only cures croup, but when given as soon as the croupy cough appears, will prevent the attack. In cases of whooping cough it liquefies the tough mucus, making it easier to expectorate, and lessens the severity and frequency of the paroxysms of coughing, thus depriving that disease of all dangerous consequences. The Petrified Man.

According to a Billings, Mont., dispatch in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat, John Johnson, known throughout the west as "Liver-Eating Johnson," a government scout and spy, and who is believed to have killed more Indians than any other man, either living or dead, that ever rode the arid wastes of the west, reached this city recently en route to the soldiers' home at Los Angeles. He recognized the ossified man found in the Missouri river, near Fort Banton about a year ago, as being the petrification of a man he knew at Fort Benton. The petrification looks as natural as life. It will go east from here, and then to the Paris exposition.

The Cruel Knife!

It is absolutely useless to expect a surgical operation to cure cancer, or any other blood disease. The cruelty of such treatment is illustrated in the alarming number of deaths which result from it. The disease is in the blood, and hence can not be cut out. Nine times out of ten the surgeon's knife only hastens death.

My son had a most malignant Cancer, for which the doctors said an operation was the only hope. The operation was a severe one, as it was necessary to cut down to the jawbone and scrape it. Before a great while the Cancer returned, and began to grow rapidly. We gave him many remedies without relief, and finally, upon the advice of a friend, decided to try S. S. S. (Swift's Specific), and with the second bottle he began to improve. After twenty bottles had been taken, the Cancer disappeared entirely, and he was cured. The cure was a permanent one, for he is now seventeen years old, and has never had a sign of the dreadful disease to return.

1897—General Darius Nash Couch, noted Federal leader in the civil war, died at Norwalk, Conn.; aged 75.

"GOEBEL, BECKHAM, TAYLOR."

The Milwaukee Evening Wisconsin does not take kindly to the plan to allow Gov. Taylor the honor of making all the sacrafices for the comfoon good, saying:

It is said by a matter-of fact correspondent of an Eastern newspaper that "there is probably no man in Kentucky quite capable of taking Gobel's place." Notwithstanding the misfortunes which have befallen her of late, "Old Kaintuck" is a subject for congratulation, if the fact be as surmised. As for Goebel's running mate, whom the democratic members of the legislature have in grooming for the governorship, a seemimgly impartial correspondent writes:

Young Mr. Beckham is believed to be fair-minded and disposed to listen to the councils of the more conservative men of the state. He belongs to one of the old aristocratic families, and is a son of an eminent lawyer. Although training with the Goebel gang, as a beneficiary of its power, it is said that his name was put on the ticket by Mr. Goebel to allay as much as possible the hostility developed by the methods by which Goebel's own nomination was secured.

However, this respectable young man's eulogy of Goebel, at the latter's funeral yesterday, was not re-assuring. His words were:

"The chief characteristic of this great man to which I would direct your attention was his love and devotion to the law. Throughout all his career he always acted within the limits of the law."

Considering the danger that impressionable young men will endeavor to imitate the celebraties they admire, it is just as well that Gov. Taylor shall "go slow" in accepting the invitation to surrender his office to Beckham in consideration of the promise that the statutary iniquity known as the Goebel law shall give place to a fair election law that will not repose in the hands of an illegal legislature the power to thwart the people at the polls. It is now apparent that Taylor's majority of the popular vote was very considerably larger than 10,000 claimed by the Republicans. The Washington correspondent of the New York Evening Post and Boston Transcript says: "Fair minded Democrats here estimate that Taylor's actual majority was nearer 30,000 than 2,400 which the Democratic returning board at Frankfort finally conceded that he had." Goebel's miscreants, who under his law were in charge of the election machinery suppressed a large portion of the Republican vote, and yet their attempt to steal the vote was a failure. The reason the scheme miscarried was that the Goebel people underestimated the proportions of the revolt against them, and the amount of manipulation of the returns which would be necessary. Had Goebel lived and succeeded in forcing himself into power Kentucky would never have been allowed a chance of seating a republican gsvornor, no matter how many votes were cast for him. Goebel and his miscreants would not have cared how the people voted so long as Goebel Democracy did the counting. Gov. Taylor knows the kind of men he has to fight. He is not in a hurry to desert the cause of the people.

One of the women who wrote the Milwaukee Journal on "How Can a Wife Retain the Affections of Her Husband" gave, as her policy the simple declaration "feed the brutes." The suggestion is a good one. The poor men sometimes do get tired of taking care of cows and horses, and a brief respite would do much to endear the wives that relieve him of that duty.

Andrew Carnegie doesn't complain because he is classed with Hoar, Pettigrew, Mason & Co., and has no objection to being sued for $21,000,000, but when someone said that he would contribute to Bryan's election, Mr. Carnegie made haste to enter an emphatic denial.

Governor Scofield has reappointed Dr Q. O. Sutherland as a member of the State Board of Health for the term of seven years. Dr. Sutherland has rendered excellent service on the board, and his reappointment is a well deserved recognition.

H. C. Frick proposes to sue Andrew Carnegie to recover $21,000,000 Some people are very exacting in their business deals. Very few of us ordinary people, however, would think of going into court over such a trivial matter.

Governor Roosevelt says he would decline a vice presidential nomination as he prefers to remain governor of New York. Time works changes, however, and perhaps "Teddy" will reconsider before the convention meets.

The indications that Goebel was shot by a personal and not by a polical enemy, grow stronger each day, and the fact that he had on a steel coat of mail under his clothing shows that Goebel expected to be attacked

Walter Wellman is now sawing the air over the Nicaragua canal scheme, but he doesn't seem to be as much worried as he was when he had the Spanish war on his hands.

Captain Reiter is to command the battleship Wisconsin. The selection is a good one. The Wisconsin will be found to be all right, and her captain should be Reiter.

Bryan says he doesn't want to be called "colonel," but prefers to be known as "Mr." It's cheap money he wants, not cheap titles.

Ex-Governor Hogg may be called a ham, but no one will ever refer to him as 'short ribs."

Dan Coughlin, it now transpires, did not "write the bordereau." Esterhazy has confessed.

Guarding the Trans-Siberian Railroad.

The Trans-Siberian railroad is very closely guarded, the management feeling personally responsible for the people they carry on their trains. The road is divided into sections of one verst, or five-eighths of a mile. In a neat little log house, usually in a garden, live the guard and his people. The average family is a wife and five tow-headed children. The houses were built by the company and evidently with a view to meeting the demands of increasing families. The guard or a member of his family must patrol his section night and day. He steps to the side of the track as the train approaches and after it has passed steps back into the middle of the track, holds a small green flag in the air, at night a lantern, and stands like a statue until the train has entered the next section. Several guards do duty in the heavy curves and frequently they are only a few hundred feet apart. Much of the track patroling is done by women, who have proved fully as reliable as the men. The women are nearly always barefooted, and as they stand on the track holding the flag aloft, a Siberian breeze toying with their short skirts, they are fine subjects for a sculptor after a unique model.

Anti-Alcoholic Serum.

Anti-alcoholic serum, says a Paris correspondent, is now an accomplished fact. Dr. Sappelier and Dr. Thebault announced recently to the Academy of Medicine that their experiments, chiefly upon horses, had been efficacious, and asked for a committee to examine the practical results of their researches in producing invincible disgust, not only for spirituous liquors, but for wine and other beverages containing lesser proportions of alcohol.

Dogs to Aid Boers.

Two batches of trained dogs have been dispatched from Germany to assist the Boers. They have been drilled to dismount cyclists by pulling them from their machines, and a dozen or so of these dogs are calculated to throw a cyclist corps into great confusion.

Sure-Footed Boer Horses.

The horses which the Boers ride are very much like the Welsh or Scotch ponies, being very sure-footed, and with a power of leaping from rock to rock that is phenomenal.

BIBLE WITH ROMANTIC HISTORY

It Was Found on the Plains and Used on Many Ceremonial Occasions.

The Bible which was used in the ceremonies beginning the celebration in this city of the fiftieth anniversary of the state of California has a history that is very interesting. In 1849 a young man in coming across the plains found a pile of books by the side of the road with a stick stuck among them bearing a note telling travelers to help themselves. The young man in searching through the old volumes found a handsome Bible, which he considered a shame to be left upon the dreary desert. He placed it in his pack and carried it to Sacramento. He presented it to Dr. R. H. McDonald, who at that time conducted a drug store in that city. Some time after the advent of the Bible into Sacramento a meeting was called in that city for the purpose of founding a lodge of Masons. That was on Jan. 8, 1850, and the lodge was to be known as Connecticut Lodge, No. 75. It chanced that the meeting place was adjoining the premises occupied by Dr. McDonald. When it was convened it was found that there was no Bible at hand with which to conduct the ceremonies and Dr. McDonald presented the book that had been given to him by the young man for the lodge's use. On the 19th of the following April the grand lodge of Masons was formed and the Bible again played an important part in the ceremonies. After the formation of the grand lodge the name of Connecticut lodge was changed to Tehama lodge, No. 2, but ever since its establishment on Jan. 8, 1850, the Bible has remained in the possession of the lodge. R. O. Craven, a prominent officer of the lodge, has been appointed to represent the lodge here during the jubilee exercises and serves as the custodian of the prized old book during its visit to this city.—San Jose (Cal.) Twentieth Century Air Valve

A valuable article for steam heated houses. It is guaranteed to exhaust the steam vapor from the boiler fast as it generates and allows its circulation freely in to the radiators. These air valves are so constructed (as you will notice by the cut) that the slightest degree of heat will automatically open the valve and expel the cold air. When the fire is low the valve closes and prevents back suction of cold air into the pipes. The valve can beseen in operation, costs but $.150, and will save its cost in one season.

Good Farm Homes Cheap

The Chicago & Northwestern Railway Company owns 550,000 acres of hard wood timber land in Northern Wisconsin, which lands are now being offered to actual settlers at low prices. The lands are well located, afford railway, postal, church and school advantages. These lands should not be confounded with the pine stumpage lands now offered in this market. Land that grows pine is invariably sandy.

The C. & N. W. Tracts grow hard wood and cannot be excelled by any "openings" in the country.

The logs, posts and poles find ready sale at nearby saw mills, and when the land is once cleared excellent agricultural soil is the result.

Excursions will be run to these lands on Tuesday of each week, round trip tickets being sold at.... $6.71

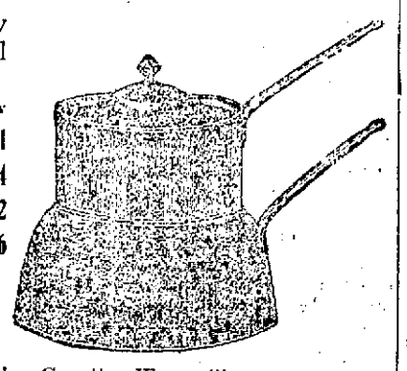

They are for sale at my office. I should be glad to furnish printed matter and other information to all interested.

MAY HAVE ROBBED THE MILTON BANK

PRISONERS WERE SENTENCED FROM ROCK COUNTY.

Are Now Under Arrest At Prairie du Chien—Well Known to Chief Hogan and Sheriff Appleby—Guy T. Gould of the Pinkerton Force Was Here to Investigate.

Men suspected of being implicated in the robbery of the bank at Milton, are now under arrest at Prairie du Chien.

Asst. Supt. Arthur Irle of the Pinkerton National Detective agency, and Guy T. Gould, postoffice inspector of Chicago were in Prairie du Chien yesterday to identify the alleged robbers captured at Bay's Mills recently. Irle had in his possession photographs identifying John Johnson alias James Franklin, James Kelley and "Toronto Jim" who served in Waupun from Rock county and Grant county. Prison number 7107.

William Howe, alias William Harrison, George Morris and Lefty Fitzgerald, who served in Joliet for attempted bank robbery at Popular Grove, Ill., in 1895, and also served at Waupun. Joliet prison number 4510. Thomas L. Farrell is Frank Flynn, alias "Old Dad" Flynn, who served at Waupun. Prison number 6408. H. Tiffin, the other man, was not known. Sheriff McGonigal of Lancaster, Grant county, says Johnson broke jail and was recaptured while in his charge before serving at Waupun.

The photographs by which the men were identified were secured in Janesville. Geo. Morris, "Toronto Jim," Frank Flynn and Lefty Fitzgerald are all well known to the Janesville police, having appeared more than once before the local courts. Detective Gould was recently in Janesville looking up evidence in reference to these men.

WERE MARRIED AT ST. PATRICK'S CHURCH

Wedding Was Witnessed by Large Circle of Friends—The Rev. E. M. McGinnity Officiated.

At St. Patrick's church at 8:30 o'clock this morning the Rev. Father E. M. McGinnity spoke the words that united as husband and wife Jerome C. Cunningham and Miss Josephine Rooney, both of this city. Joseph Cunningham, brother of the groom, acted as best man while Miss Birdie Rooney, sister of the bride, acted the part of bridesmaid. Following the ceremony the happy couple were tendered a wedding breakfast at the Racine street home of the bride's parents. Today they left for Chicago to be gone a few days.

The bride and groom are both life long residents of Janesville and both are popular and well known. The bride has been employed as cashier in the dry goods store of Archie Reid & Company and is a young lady highly esteemed by a large circle of friends.

The groom for many years has been a clerk with the same firm. He is a young man of whom nothing but good can be said. They will both retain their positions in the store and will reside on North High street where the groom has been boarding.

INJURIES CAUSE BEETLE'S DEATH

THE REMAINS ARRIVED HERE THIS MORNING.

Taken Direct From the Depot to Oak Hill Cemetery—Mrs. John Cooper Died Saturday Evening At the Age of Eighty-Four Years—Was Well Known In Rock County.

Taken to Oak Hill Cemetery

The remains of the late George L. Beetle of Chicago, arrived in Janesville on the 11:30 o'clock train this morning, and were taken direct to Oak Hill cemetery for interment.

Mr. Beetle was a pioneer telegraph operator and electrician. He died at his home, 15 Stanley terrace, Thursday evening. The demise came as a result of internal injuries received in a railroad accident ten years ago.

He was born in Edgartown, Mass., in 1832, and came west in 1847, entering the service of the Erie and Michigan Telegraph company. He came to Chicago in 1871, and has been connected with the Western Electric company since that time.

He left a widow and two daughters, Mrs. Bowes and Miss Beetle.

Mrs. Mary Cooper

Mrs. Mary Cooper, widow of John Cooper, died Saturday evening at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Eva Smith, 101 Washington street at 5:40 o'clock. Mrs. Cooper was eighty-four years of age. She was a faithful member of the Court Street M. E. church and was a woman highly respected. She leaves five children, three daughters and two sons, Mrs. Lucian S. Smith and Mrs. Leonard McNeil, Fair View, Ill.; E. F Cooper of Fond du Lac, Wis., and M. H Cooper of Matlock, Washington. Besides the children she leaves two grandchildren, Henry C. Smith of Helena, Montana, and George P. Smith, of Dubuque, Iowa, both well known former Janesville boys. The funeral was held this afternoon and the remains were placed in the vault at Oak Hill cemetery and later will be taken to Oak Center, Wis, her former home, for interment.

Miss Inez Stillman.

W. H. Greenman received a telegram this morning announcing the death of Miss Inez Stillman of this city, who recently went to California in hopes of benefitting her health. Her demise occurred at Riverside and death came three hours before her mother and sister, Mrs. L. E. Randolph, arrived. Mrs. Stillman and Mrs. Randolph left Janesville last Tuesday for Riverside. Miss Stillman was in the employ of Fort, Bailey & Co. for five or six years, but was forced to give up her work because of ill health. Her sickness finally developed into consumption, and her western trip was of no avail. She was a member of Court Street church and was exceptionally popular with all who knew her.

Christian Borbeck.

Christian Borbeck died at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon at his home, 315 South Main street, aged twenty-eight years. Funeral arrangements have not yet been made, but an announcement will be made later. Mr. Borbeck was a sufferer from that relentless disease consumption, and had but recently returned from the south where he had gone in hopes of being benefitted. The trip resulted in no improvement, however, and a short time ago, Mr. Borbeck returned that he might pass his few remaining days at home. He is a bright and energetic young man, and his death will be mourned by many. He was a photographer by profession, and was in the employ of George W. Wise until failing health compelled him to give up.

HONORED ABRAHAM LINCOLN

The Anniversary of His Birth Was Remembered in Janesville Today.

Today was the anniversary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln, lamented president of the United States, assassinated by Booth. In many cities the day was largely observed and business was practically suspended. Most of the postoffices were closed half of the day.

In Janesville Lincoln's name and fame was mentioned in some of the public schools. In the public library building the bulletin board committee honored the ex-president by displaying his picture and several interesting events that surrounded his life. The whole effect was draped with American flags.

C. B. Woodman of the Town of La Prairie Cares For His Aged Parent

Judge Grimm of the Jefferson county court, has appointed C. B. Woodman of the town of La Prairie, as guardian of his father, Hon. W. W. Woodman of Johnson's Creek, on account of incompetency because of old age. The old gentleman has the habit of wandering away from home, and an attendant is now constantly with him. M'CARROLL SENTENCED

Judge Dunwiddie Sends Him to Waupun for Two Years—Bennett Set Free.

Judge Dunwiddie, at Jefferson, Saturday, discharged "Billy" Bennett, who was charged with assaulting Peter Thorson and his sister. George McCarroll confessed that he had assisted in the assault on the two persons, and was sent to the penitentiary for two years.

The case was a very interesting one. Peter Thorson, as well as his sister, positively identified Bennett as being one of the men who committed the assault. The defense on the other hand was equally positive that the man the state had in custody was not in Jefferson county at that time. Evidence was introduced showing that this man was in Milwaukee, stopping at the Helping Hand mission the same day and the same hour the assault was committed.

MAY SECURE LIBRARY FOR Y.M.C.A. BUILDING

WOULD COST ABOUT ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS.

Movement Is Now On Foot to Find Some Public Spirited Man—Books Would Be On the First Floor—A Woman Has Been Hired to Look After the Dormitories.

A strong movement is now on foot in this city for the establishing of a library in the Young Men's Christian association building. By this movement the promoters hope that some public spirited man or men will donate such a gift. The total cost would be in the neighborhood of $1,000. A prominent man connected with the local Y. M. C. A. said this morning:

"Before long you will find one of the most complete libraries in the state, outside of the public libraries, established in the Janesville association building. It will be on the first floor. A librarian will be kept to look after the books. Only members of the association will have cards. The stock of books will be carefully selected, and will be for young men only. They will not be religious books, but books especially adapted for young men."

Have Engaged a Woman

Mrs. Blow, North Franklin street, has been engaged to look after the Y. M. C. A. rooms rented for sleeping apartments. A man has always done this work. When it came to making the beds a man was found lacking. He did not seem to know his business in this respect although he could sweep and do the other labor as good as a woman. There are twenty-two rooms rented for sleeping apartments.

A Correction.

The Gazette wishes to state that it erroneously quoted a wrong price in the coupon of Dedrick Bros.' ad in Saturday evening's issue. It should have read "this coupon and 20 cents" instead of "5 cents."

Dedrick Bros. don't believe in making excuses, but this is a case which is unavoidable and liable to happen to anyone. It was purely a typographical error in which Dedrick Bros. were not in the least to blame. They do not intend to make misleading statements either in their ads or in their store.

To be healthy, wealthy and wise you need a "want" ad.

ACTIVITIES OF WOMANKIND

BY ANNETTE CRAWFORD

Miss Leonora Van Marter, whose sweet, sympathetic face was for years an inspiration to the slummers in the heart of New York's poor district, has recently become a countess. It was a common sight to see her only a few years ago moving about among the rough, hardened sailors along the water front. Lord Bennet was not the only one to recognize her nobility of purpose, but he was more fortunate than many others who sought her hand, for he won her from a dozen others and made her Lady Bennet. They continued their work among the poor until two years ago, when they left for England to take up their residence on the estate of Lord Bennet's father. By the death of the elder the young man has recently succeeded to the title and estates of the Earl of Tankerville.

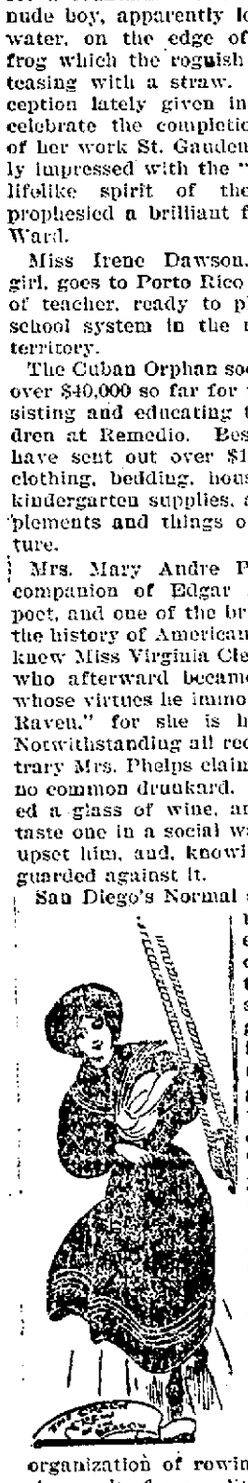

Mrs. B. F. Tiemann, who is well known in New York as the owner of fine horses and an adept in their handling, has become a convert to the popular fashion of operating a horseless carriage. Her automobile is run by steam generated by gasoline. To get the permit to run such a vehicle one must pass a thorough examination and receive a certificate from the boiler inspector's department. Mrs. Tiemann is the only New York woman who has so far qualified.

Miss Elsie Ward of Denver, a pupil of St. Gaudens, has been very successful in the modeling of "The Boy and the Frog," which is a life size design for a fountain. It is the figure of a nude boy, apparently looking into the water, on the edge of which sits a frog which the roguish little fellow is teasing with a straw. At a little reception lately given in her studio to celebrate the completion and display of her work St. Gaudens was especially impressed with the "expression and lifelike spirit of the statue" and prophesied a brilliant future for Miss Ward.

Miss Irene Dawson, a Cincinnati girl, goes to Porto Rico in the capacity of teacher, ready to plant the public school system in the newly acquired territory.

The Cuban Orphan society has raised over $40,000 so far for the work of assisting and educating the Cuban children at Remedio. Besides that, they have sent out over $10,000 worth of clothing, bedding, household utensils, kindergarten supplies, agricultural implements and things of a similar nature.

Mrs. Mary Andre Phelps was the companion of Edgar Allan Poe, the poet, and one of the brightest lights in the history of American literature. She knew Miss Virginia Clemm, his cousin, who afterward became his wife and whose virtues he immortalized in "The Raven," for she is his lost Lenore. Notwithstanding all records to the contrary Mrs. Phelps claims that Poe was no common drunkard. He seldom tasted a glass of wine, and when he did taste one in a social way it completely upset him, and, knowing that, he was guarded against it.

San Diego's Normal school boasts of no less than eight rowing clubs. Six of these are exclusively for the girls, and there is a prospect of more being organized soon by the students who enter this year. These western young women believe in physical as well as mental culture, and while the latter may be obtained in the schoolroom the former must be secured by out of door exercise.

It is an interesting fact that the organization of rowing clubs was not the result of premeditation. When the Normal school was located in temporary quarters down town, there were no grounds available for the ordinary school athletics. As a last resort some one thought of the beautiful bay, and all the students became enthusiastic over this novel and fascinating exercise, with the result that nearly 200 members have taken active part in the various crews, 100 of whom are girls.

One young lady from Salt Lake City who was recently married in Syracuse evidently has neither regard for the long established customs regarding church decorations nor the old saw, "Married in red," etc., for the altar was banked with a blaze of red carnations. The walls were hung with holly wreaths and tied with red ribbon, and the pews were barred off with red satin ribbon tied with bunches of red carnations. The ushers wore red boutonnieres, and the bride's attendants were attired in red gowns of mousseline de soie over red silk. The bride carried a tall La Tosca staff with a bunch of American Beauty roses tied to the staff with a red satin ribbon.

Miss Nixola Greeley-Smith, a poetess and the granddaughter of Horace Greeley, is expressing her sympathies with the Boers in verse.

Mrs. Roberts of Rome, Ga., is the founder and high priestess of a new religious sect. All the followers, 18 in number, claim to have direct communication with their God. Services are held at midnight in a house whose owner was mysteriously murdered.

Mrs. Emma Van Dusen, a young widow of Dallas, has just been sworn in as a deputy United States marshal. She comes of fighting stock. Her mother was a cousin of Stonewall Jackson, and her father was of the O'Daniel family of Ireland. It will be part of her duty to go armed with regulation weapons.

Miss Elise Farrel, the youngest daughter of Franklin Farrel, has gone into training to fit herself for the management of her father's iron foundry. She is learning the business and is perfecting herself in the mechanical art of casting, founding, smelting and rolling. She is beginning on a salary of $15 per week and hopes in time to have a partner's interest in her father's $20,000,000 business.

The Misses Tahm, aged 18 and 19 respectively, of Mendocino county, Cal., have made a wonderful record of success since their father's death a few months ago. They successfully manage a stock farm worth $50,000. They spend most of their time in the saddle. Clad in overalls and jumpers, they care for their 5,000 sheep scattered over the neighboring crags. One of the largest panthers ever killed in Mendocino county was recently brought to Calito by Miss Gussie, the younger of the two girls. It measured 11 feet from tip to tip and weighed 223 pounds.

The Secular Canonesses of Prague belong to the proudest religious order of Europe. Founded by Empress Maria Theresa, no maiden is admitted to the ranks who cannot prove on both sides 16 quarterings of nobility. The abbess is always a daughter of the imperial house. It is intended as a refuge for royal ladies of small fortune. The ladies are free to marry if they get a good offer and have no restrictions placed upon them other than that they must pass a certain number of months in the royal palace at Hradshin. They have all the freedom of home life, going and coming as they please in the search for pleasure, besides receiving a pension of $50 per month.

Mrs. Martha Johnson Patterson, who is critically ill at her home in Tennessee, is the eldest daughter of President Andrew Johnson and the only survivor of his immediate family. As Miss Johnson she was considered a great beauty. When, owing to the illness of her mother, she assumed the duties of mistress of the White House, she found the historic mansion in a greatly disordered and neglected condition. She at once proceeded to restore it to a condition suitable to its purpose. She took especial interest in the conservatories and was the first mistress of the White House to open them and the parlors to the public, irrespective of the days. She won for herself the distinction of being the most popular mistress of the presidential mansion.

Marie Corelli occupies the house that was once the home of Shakespeare's favorite daughter, Susannah, at Stratford-on-Avon. Her first visit to Stratford was in company with her half brother, the poet, Eric Mackay. Shortly after his death Miss Corelli decided to make her home on the spot where they had enjoyed so many lovely days together. The house is very old fashioned, with a kitchen garden in the rear. Creeper covers the quaint, low building from foundation to eaves. The broad old halls and oak staircase, the low studded rooms and quantities of old carved furniture, the rare old china and bric-a-brac, make it an ideal home, both quaint and beautiful. The reading public are of the general opinion that Miss Corelli writes under an assumed name. This is not so. She signs all her work with her full legal name.

CONDITION OF MICHIGAN BANKS

Showing Made in the Annual Report of the Commissioner.

Lansing, Mich., Feb. 12.—In his annual report Banking Commissioner Maltz states that there are 188 state banks and three trust companies in Michigan, seven banks, with an aggregate capital of $160,000, having been organized during the year, while two went into voluntary liquidation and four others reduced their capital a total of $105,000, making a total reduction of capital of $238,000. The State Savings bank, Detroit, increased its capital from $200,000 to $500,000, thus making the net increase in state-bank capital for the year $222,000. During the past year the deposits increased $14,030,432 and the increase in loans was $14,991,738.

The aggregate of dividends paid by state banks for 1899 was $845,065, and the aggregate surplus was increased $221,303 during the same period. The dividend for the year on capital and surplus averaged 5½ per cent, and on capital alone 6 2-3 per cent. At the close of the year there were 77,857 commercial depositors, with aggregate deposits of $36,772,566.64, an average of $472 per depositor; and 216,488 savings depositors, with aggregate deposits of $62,660,212.66, an average of $290 per depositor.

DR. EDWARD L. HOLMES DYING.

Former President of Rush Medical College Fatally Ill with Pneumonia.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Dr. Edward L. Holmes, ex-president of Rush Medical college, is critically ill with pneumonia at the residence of his son-in-law, Dr. E. A. Gray, 158 Evanston avenue. His death is thought to be a question of a few hours. While firemen were extinguishing a blaze in Dr. Gray's house a week ago Dr. Holmes contracted a severe cold, which developed into pneumonia.

Leyds Silent as to Visit.

Antwerp, Feb. 12.—Despite the persistent efforts since Friday of more than fifty newspaper men none has succeeded in drawing from Dr. Leyds, the diplomatic representative of the Transvaal, any idea of the exact object of his recent tour of France and Germany. His answers are cleverly evasive. He merely tells the Etoile Belge that he is extremely satisfied with his European journey.

Want President to Act.

Canton, Ohio, Feb. 12.—A pro-Boer club has been formed here and resolutions were adopted which ask the president to use his good will in ending the "unholy and unjust war" in South Africa. A copy of the resolutions is to be sent to the president and a copy to Montague White. Cecil Rhodes is made a mark for a specially caustic paragraph, which calls him a mercenary of England.

Forbidden to Carry Arms.

El Paso, Texas, Feb. 12.—The Mexican government now prohibits the entrance of arms and ammunition into the state of Sonora, owing to the revolution in progress there. American miners, who heretofore have been permitted to carry rifles and belts full of cartridges into Sonora, are prevented from carrying any arms whatever, and are stripped of ammunition at Nogales.

Bought by a Chicago Firm.

City of Mexico, Feb. 12.—A Chicago firm has taken a second issue of the state of Jalisco bonds, to the amount of $1,000,000 gold, the proceeds of which go for the purpose of improvements in the city of Guadalajara. The same firm some time ago took a million and a half dollars bonds of that state.

Public School Destroyed.

Washington, Ind., Feb. 12.—The West End public school building was destroyed by fire Sunday morning. It was a brick structure. Loss, $12,000; insurance, $2,500.

Mother's advice is worth more than the advice of any other woman to the daughter who is perplexed by the problems of physical health and comfort. There's no need therefore to "write to a woman," who is a stranger.

There may, however, be need for a physician's advice to supplement the advice of the mother. In such a case the offer of free consultation by letter, made by Dr. Pierce, opens the way to health, and at the same time avoids the unpleasant questionings, the repulsive examinations and offensive local treatments which less experienced physicians often insist on.

Any sick or ailing woman is invited to write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, in the strictest privacy. Each letter is held as a sacred confidence and its answer is sent in a plain envelope, bearing no printing upon it.

Do not be misled by advertisements offering "medical advice," which are published by those who not being physicians are not qualified to give such advice. Any physician or doctor who has a legal and professional right to the title will publicly claim that title. Those who offer "medical advice" and invite you to "write to a woman" do not claim that the woman is a doctor. The "medical advice" of an unprofessional woman is just as dangerous as the "medical advice" of an unprofessional man. In more than thirty years Dr. Pierce and his staff of nearly a score of medical specialists, have successfully treated over half a million women. You can write without fear as without fee to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

..LATE NEWS BY TELEGRAPH..

THE WEEK IN CONGRESS.

First Four Days Will Be Given Up to Currency.

MANY AMENDMENTS IN SIGHT.

Friends of Senator Quay Hope to Be Able to Get Consideration of the Resolution in His Behalf Before Saturday.

Washington, Feb. 12.—The first four days of the week will be given up to the currency bill in the senate, and after that measure is disposed of there will be a contest for precedence in the interest of several measures. These include the bills for providing forms of government for Hawaii and Puerto Rico, the Nicaragua canal bill and the resolution for the seating of Senator Quay upon the appointment of the governor of Pennsylvania. Which of these will take precedence remains to be determined. Just now there is some sharp sparring for first place.

The currency bill will be voted on Thursday, and all the time not given to such routine business as the introduction of bills and the presentation of reports and petitions will be devoted to this measure until it is acted upon by the senate. Today and tomorrow will be consumed with set arguments for and against the bill prepared in advance, and Wednesday and Thursday will be devoted to speeches not exceeding ten minutes in duration on the various amendments to the bill. The most important of these amendments is that offered by the democrats through Senator Jones of Arkansas for the free coinage of silver on terms of equality with gold. Following this, numerous other changes will be suggested, but it is quite well understood that all of them will be voted down unless proposed by the committee on finance, with which the bill originated.

The democrats count upon getting all the democratic, populistic and silver republican votes except those of Senators Caffery and Lindsay for their free coinage amendment, but they will still fall far short of the necessary number. No one doubts the passage of the bill by a large majority on the final vote. The opposition do not concede so many, but admit that the total against them is formidable.

The friends of Senator Quay say they fully expect to be able to get consideration of the resolution in his behalf immediately after the financial bill is disposed of, but there is unquestionably a disposition on the part of some of the republican senators to crowd the matter over and take up either the Puerto Rican or the Hawaiian bill, the chances between these being favorable to the Puerto Rican measure. The indications are that the Nicaragua bill will be postponed until after the Hay-Pauncefote treaty is acted upon by the committee on foreign relations, though Senator Morgan says he will ask for the consideration of the bill at the earliest opportunity. The set speeches on the financial bill so far as announced are as follows: Monday, Senators Elkins, Wolcott and Butler; Tuesday, Senators Allison and Jones of Nevada.

The time of the house will be completely occupied this week. Today, under the rules, will be devoted to District of Columbia business. On Tuesday the legislative, executive and judicial appropriation bill, which will be reported to the house today, will be taken up. It is expected to consume Tuesday and Wednesday, and on Thursday the house will enter upon a week's discussion of the Puerto Rican tariff bill. This measure, as the entering wedge in the matter of legislation for our insular possessions, naturally attracts much attention, and there has already developed great pressure for time, especially upon the democratic side, so that it is probable that night sessions may be held toward the close of the debate next week.

Railroad to Change Its Name.

Louisville, Ky., Feb. 12.—The Louisville & Nashville Railroad company, embracing lines from St. Louis, Mo., to the Atlantic coast, and from the Ohio river to the Gulf of Mexico, is soon to be known as the St. Louis, Nashville & New Orleans Railroad company. The change of name is a point that has been considered by the directors of the company in connection with the contemplated removal of the general offices from this city to St. Louis, and the transfer of the shops here to Nashville.

To Frame Havana's Charter.

Havana, Feb. 12.—To-day's Gaceta Oficial publishes the names of the commissioners appointed by Gen. Ludlow prior to his departure to study the administration and financial condition of the city and to prepare a charter designed to meet the conditions about to be imposed. The commission, which comprises Mayor Lacoste, who is the president, seven other Cubans, Ernest L. Conant, and Osgood Smith, will commence work at once.

Trainmen Killed in Wreck.

Fort Worth, Texas, Feb. 12.—Meager particulars of a wreck on the Rock Island road, thirty-five miles north of here, have reached this city. A freight train left the rails, and is said to be a total wreck. One trainman is reported killed and another badly injured.

SAY TREATY WILL BE RATIFIED.

Leading Senators Assure the President of Their Support.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—The opposition of many newspapers east and west to the Hay-Pauncefote convention, modifying the Clayton-Bulwer treaty, has given the administration some concern, but the president has been assured by the leading senators, both republicans and democrats, that the convention will be ratified. The state department has many supporters in the senate for its contention that the Clayton-Bulwer treaty has been recognized by each American administration except that of Arthur; and that for that administration Secretary Frelinghuysen did not claim that the treaty was void, but only voidable. Such senators as Davis and Morgan, who are recognized as the ablest international lawyers in the senate, regard the contention over fortifications as not material to the issue.

GAS KILLS WHOLE FAMILY.

Escaping Fumes Asphyxiate Martin Jordon, His Wife and Infant.

Chicago, Feb. 12.—Martin Jordon, his wife, Mary, and their 5-months'-old boy, Martin, Jr., were asphyxiated by gas Saturday night in their home at Forty-third street and Stewart avenue. The bodies of the three were found Sunday by Samuel Lausten, a teamster in the employment of the Universal Coal company, over whose office the Jordon family lived. A leak in a gas pipe in the basement filled the house with gas.

Baron De Govers Coming.

New York, Feb. 12.—Baron de Gevers, the new minister of the Netherlands, who is expected to arrive in this country within two weeks to represent the queen and states general of Holland, is a grandson of the late Senator William Wright of New Jersey, and a nephew of Col. Edward H. Wright of Newark. Baron de Gevers was born in St. Petersburg in 1855, and has been in the diplomatic service of Holland most of his life, serving as secretary of the legation in London, as minister to Roumania, and minister to Switzerland. He speaks six or seven languages and is said to have a charming personality.

Oldest Active Priest Dies.

New York, Feb. 12.—Dean Louis D. Senez, rector of St. Mary's church, died Sunday of old age and general debility. He was born in Paris in 1813. He came to this country in 1849, during the cholera plague in this city, and his energy and devotion to the plague sufferers attracted the attention of Archbishop Hughes. Michael A. Corrigan, now archbishop of New York, then an altar boy, was prepared for confirmation by Father Senez. Father Senez was the oldest rector in active service in the United States.

Hotel Draws the Color Line.

Anderson, Ind., Feb. 12.—State officials of the Indiana State League of Republican Clubs, and citizens generally, are indignant over the refusal of J. P. Jack, proprietor of the Doxey hotel, to reserve rooms for Booker T. Washington, the famous colored orator and educator, who is to be the guest of the league during the convention this week. A hundred homes were at once proffered, and the leading suite in the Anderson hotel donated by Joseph Hennings, the proprietor.

Cruiser to Be Rebuilt.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 12.—The thorough reconstruction of the cruiser San Francisco will be shortly begun at the Norfolk navy yard. This cruiser has defects similar to those once possessed by the cruisers Newark and Chicago of her class. The department contemplates that the San Francisco shall be brought up to date, and the emergency deficiency bill having been passed, the officials at this yard have been instructed to begin the work.

Will Appoint Southern Democrat.

Washington, D. C., Feb. 12.—The president appears to be determined to have a southern democrat as one of the Philippine commission. The suggestion that a southern man be selected was made to Mr. McKinley by Senator Sullivan of Mississippi. It is understood that Senator Lindsay of Kentucky will be asked to serve. Senator Lindsay's term does not expire till March 4, 1901, and if he accepts he will have to resign the senatorship.

Labor Men Want McKinley's Aid.

New York, Feb. 12.—The Central Federated union has instructed its secretary to write to President McKinley and ask him what he is going to do as a member of the Bricklayers' union of Chicago about the strike of the granite cutters at the Chicago postoffice. President McKinley was made an honorary member of the union before he laid the foundation stone of the Chicago postoffice, and the Central Federated union says that it expects him now to take an interest in having union regulations observed.

Roosevelt Against Treaty.

New York, Feb. 12.—Gov. Roosevelt said today: "I most earnestly hope isthmian canal will not be ratified unless amended so as to provide that the canal, when built, shall be wholly under the control of the United States, alike in peace and war. This seems to me vital, no less from the standpoint of our sea power, than from the standpoint of the Monroe doctrine."

MOLINEUX FOUND GUILTY.

Jury Holds Him Responsible for the Death of Mrs. Adams.

New York, Feb. 12.—Roland J. Molineux, tried for the killing of Mrs. Katherine J. Adams by poison on Dec. 28, 1898, was found guilty at 11:03 o'clock Saturday evening of murder in the first degree. The jury was out about eight hours. Except he be saved by an appeal or executive clemency the prisoner must die in the electric chair. In his trial, lasting nearly three months, he had the benefit of every aid that the wealth, social influence and honorable name of his distinguished father, Gen. Molineux, of civil war fame, could bring to his side. His attorneys presented no evidence, resting their case solely on the testimony put in by the state, and took the ground that their client, being wholly innocent, must be found guilty of murder in the first degree, the gravest finding possible under the indictment, or must be acquitted. Though the further plans of the prisoner are not yet stated, there is no doubt that every resource of appeal will be availed of in the hope of undoing the results of this trial and conviction. The trial began Nov. 19, 1899, and continued till Saturday night, Feb. 10. The cost to the state was $200,000.

BROKEN NECK IS RESTORED.

Valentina Costa Believes God Performed a Miracle for Her.

Oshkosh, Wis., Feb. 12.—A year ago Valentina Costa, 8 years old, came to St. Mary's hospital with a broken neck. Today she is cured, as the direct result, so she firmly believes, of prayer. A fall dislocated her neck so that she had no control over the muscles or bones supporting the head, and that member had to be supported by a brace. She is deeply religious and has prayed earnestly and unremittingly for recovery. Thursday night, while on her knees in the chapel of the hospital, the brace broke, and her head, instead of wobbling about as formerly, remained erect, and she could turn it from side to side. She believes God performed a miracle in her behalf and in direct response to her prayers. Her parents, who live at Green Bay, are poor, and she has been assisted by charitable people of this city.

Glowing Report on Cuba.

Washington, Feb. 12.—Senor Quesada, the Cuba commissioner in Washington, has returned from a trip through the island which he represents. He reports that conditions on the island have improved marvelously in the last few months. The tobacco crop will be the largest in years. Everybody who wants to work is finding employment, and prosperity is in sight. The sugar plantations require capital to develop them, and for this reason the progress in rehabilitation of the sugar plantations is slow. The machinery required is of the most expensive character, and it will be some time before that industry is fairly on its feet.

Saved in Breeches Buoy.

Atlantic City, N. J., Feb. 12.—The steamer Propeller of this place went ashore at Absecom light Sunday morning, while en route for New York. The life-savers had little difficulty in getting a line out to the steamer by use of the mortar, and a breeches buoy was sent out, in which the captain and the three men of the crew were landed.

Illinois Miners to Meet.

Springfield, Ill., Feb. 12.—The annual state convention of the United Mine Workers of America will meet Wednesday morning in representative hall at the state house. The convention will be in session all week. The annual meeting of the Illinois Coal Operators' association will begin Monday morning, Feb. 19.

Funds for Moody Schools.

Boston, Mass., Feb. 12.—The movement to endow the Moody Bible schools has resulted in one gift of $50,000, several of $25,000, and a large number of $10,000 and $5,000. These gifts have come from all over the country—St. Louis, San Francisco, Chicago, St. Paul and this city. The total amount asked for is $3,000,000.

Gloom for Burlington, Iowa.

Burlington, Iowa, Feb. 12.—After today Burlington may be without lights. The lighting fund has been exhausted, and no more money will be forthcoming until the beginning of the next fiscal year, in March.

Fatally Stabbed by Woman.

Sioux City, Iowa, Feb. 12.—Thomas Gardner, or Haas, of this city was stabbed twice early Sunday morning by his former paramour, Elsie Gardner, and it is believed he will die.

Fire Does $5,000 Damage.

Wabash, Ind., Feb. 12.—Spontaneous combustion and a consequent explosion in the hardware store of the late Charles Davis Sunday morning caused a loss of $5,000.

Around the Earth.

The time required for a journey round the earth by a man walking day and night, without resting, would be 428 days; an express train, 40 days; sound, at a medium temperature, 32½ hours; a cannon ball, 21¾ hours; light, a little over one tenth of a second, and electricity, passing over a copper wire, a little under one-tenth of a second.

PIO DEL PILAR DIES OF FEVER.

Resistance to Americans Recognized as Futile by Rebel Leaders.

Manila, Feb. 12.—A number of ex-insurgent officials arrived here Sunday. They state that Gen. Pio del Pilar, the insurgent leader, died a fortnight ago in the Morong mountains. The leaders, after his death, held a meeting at which it was recognized that it would be futile to offer further resistance to the Americans. They therefore disbanded their forces, which are now wandering in small gangs in the hills.

Of late the insurgents in Albay province, Luzon, have adopted harassing tactics against the towns which the Americans have garrisoned. They camp in the hills and maintain a constant fire upon the American outposts. When the troops sally against them, they scatter, returning when the Americans retire. They shoot burning arrows, and have thus burned a large part of the town of Albay.

Col. Bell will take two regiments and a battery through the provinces of North Camarines and South Camarines. Guerrilla warfare continues south of Manila. Two attempts have been made to ambush the Americans. Col. Schwan, while returning to Manila with his staff and an escort of 100 cavalry from Batangas, was attacked by the insurgents. The latter were dispersed, but the Americans had five men wounded. The plague continues. Eight cases were reported last week among the natives and Chinese.

MANY PLAGUES IN AFRICA.

Both Man and Beast Are Made Miserable by Nature's Pests.

From Ainslee's Magazine: South Africa exports hides, wool and mohair, and the ranchman would revel in riches were it not for the various pests that decimate his flocks and herds. The most deadly one is the rinderpest, a cattle plague which in the last ten years has been slowly creeping from Central Africa southward, leaving a wake of whitened bones. In traveling through Natal I saw fifty oxen lying dead about a spring, so suddenly had the disease attacked them. It was almost impossible to get an untinged piece of steak at a restaurant, though the proprietor resented any such charge, and a plethoric German traveler who called out in a loud tone for "roast rinderpest" in the railroad cafe at De Aar Junction, Cape Colony, had to be picked up in fragments. Dr. Koch and other eminent specialists tried to stop this plague. The country is now recovering from it slowly. Another pest is the tsetse fly, an insect resembling our common house fly, but three times as large. Its bite will kill a horse, cow or any other domestic animal in about ten days, but, strange to say, does not affect a wild animal or a human being. A less dangerous, but more troublesome, pest is the white ant, which is about one-quarter of an inch long and ubiquitous in many parts of the country. They live under the ground, and can only be routed by killing the queen, which sometimes reaches the size of one inch in length. This insect is particularly harassing in Rhodesia. At Buluwayo my traveling companion inadvertently left his boots on the floor after turning in at night, and he arose next morning to find the uppers carefully separated from the soles. "Lucky you didn't leave your clothes on the floor," was the hotelkeeper's only consolation. These ants will eat through anything but metal, and for that reason much of the building is done with corrugated iron. The anthill is one of the conspicuous landmarks in traveling over South Africa.

Aggravated Murder.

In sentencing a prisoner to be hanged for the murder of a soldier Lord Eskgrove dilated upon the crime as follows: "And not only did you murder him, whereby he was bereaved of his life, but you did thrust, or push, or pierce, or project, or propel the lethal weapon through the bellyband of his regimental breeches, which were his majesty's!"

MILWAUKEE HAS GOT $100,000 TO SPEND

RAISE AMOUNT NEEDED FOR DEMOCRATIC CONVENTION.

Mayor Rose and Ex-Gov. Peck on the Way to Washington—About 100 Boomers Will Leave On February 18—Man Drowned While Skating —New Summer Resort.

Milwaukee, Wis., Feb. 12—Mayor Rose and ex-Governor Peck left the city yesterday for Washington with the guaranty of Milwaukee citizens that $100,000 would be forthcoming to pay the expenses of the democratic national convention should the national committee decide to hold the convention here. Chairman Joseph G. Donnelly of the local committee, and about 100 Milwaukeeans will follow in a few days. They will have several thousand dollars to spend at the capital in the preliminary work of making an impression in the right place Captain Fred Pabst, the brewer, is said to have planned an exhibit of samples of Milwaukee's famous product, which he will leave in installments in Washington.

W. G Bruce, who is charge of the transportation arrangements, said last night that he had received acceptances from sixty-eight persons to whom invitations had been sent to join in the excursion to Washington which will leave Milwaukee, Feb. 18. Of this number ten are from leading democrats out of the state. It is expected that the state at large will be represented by about thirty persons, among them a large delegation from Waukesha under the leadership of T. E. Ryan and Dr. F. C. Elliot.

Man Drowned While Skating.

While Several hundred people were skating on the Milwaukee river above North avenue bridge this afternoon a man, about 20 years old, skated into an opening left by an ice harvester and instantly disappeared. His hat was recovered, and is the only thing that will lead to his identification. It contains a silver name plate bearing the single initial "W." in script.

New Summer Resort Planned.

Manager Miller of the Alhambra theater has leased Mineral Springs park, on the east bank of the Milwaukee river, for a term of years, and has planned a great summer amusement resort of the Coney island variety. The Chicago and North western Railway company is interested id the project and will build a depot at the grounds, running excursion trains from Chicago and other Illinois cities to the place every Sunday.

DeSteese Is Mentioned.

Fond du Lac, Wis., Feb. 12—William De Steese of this city, is mentioned in connection with the office of department commander of the Grand Army of the Republic of Wisconsin. No more appropriate man could be chosen to fill the honorable position. He is one of the best and most favorably known residents of the city; is foremost in all matters of public improvement; takes great interest in the advancement of the interests of Fond du Lac, and is very prominent in secret society circles.

Newspaper Man Drowned

Fond du Lac, Wis., Feb 12—The body of Elijah Cone, aged 73, a writer on a Fond du Lac morning newspaper, was found in the east branch of the Fond du Lac river yesterday morning. He went to the river on Friday morning to ascertain the stage of the water, slipped down an ice bank and was drowned. In his pocket he had an unfinished story of the threatened flood intended for publication that morning. He was graduated from Yale College with the class of 1855, taking oratorical honors.

Oddities in New York Names.

If you keep your eyes open while riding around the streets of New York on the surface cars you can see many odd combinations of the names of business men and their trades, some of which are here given: Ashman, hotel; Burns, coal; Best, groceries; Burnham, real estate; Cook, fish and oysters; Coffin, beer and liquors; Coffey, teas and sugar; Forrester, real estate; Flood, rubbers, boots; Gutter, pawnbroker; Goodrich, carriages; Herb, doctor; Katz, butcher; Love, chemist; McClean, shirts, etc.; Noyes, lawyer; Proudman, diamonds; Pitcher, milk; Rich, perfumery; Silk, dress goods; Swindel, teas and spices; Sickman, fish and clams; Wood, building materials.—New York Herald.

The Satire in Whittier's Slippers.

One evening as I sat with Mr. Whittier before his Franklin stove he hospitably brought forward a pair of slippers and laughed as he pointed at the satirical device embroidered upon them. He said Gail Hampton worked them for him when his wartime poems were being published. They represented a pair of belligerent American eagles, armed with the thunderbolts of Jove, and they were done in the soberest Quaker drab—thunderbolts and all! "Thee sees," he said, "she is as sharp with her needle as with her pen!"—Samuel T. Pickard, in Ladies' Home Journal.

The Boer's Battlefield Newspaper.

According to a Cape paper, the Boers have a newspaper at the front, says a telegram in the paper in question: Last night the Railway Volkstem car left the station for Gen. Joubert's laager. It consisted of a large, well-fitted-up goods van, arranged as a printing office, with special arrangements for typesetting and printing, as well as plenty of space for paper and a desk for the editor, fixed up with a typewriter.—London Globe.

LAWRENCE, INFANT PRODIGY.

Attracted the Attention of Garrick, Foote, Burke and Sheridan.

Raphael, with genius at his back, did not come to maturity so quickly, nor did Rubens, triumphant at Antwerp, hold popular applause so long; for Lawrence kept his admiring public to the last, and was something of a wonder both as man and boy, says the Century. His whole career was brilliant, yet not through intrinsic force; his art was successful without being great; he was honored and praised down to his grave, and yet he possessed not genius. There are men who achieve popular success without genius. Lawrence was one of them. The father was a man of some birth and education, but what is called "the poetic temperament," and never got on very well in the world. He was at different times a barrister without a brief, an actor without a part, a keeper of the White Lion inn at Devizes without guests enough to make it pay. When young Lawrence was 3 years old his father made a change of base and moved into the Black Bear inn. It was here that the boy was placed upon a table to recite Shakespeare for the guests. Here, also, he developed a wonderful gift of making portraits in pastel of the passing public. A guest could have a portrait painted while he waited, and the speed of the artist was not less wonderful than his age. The duchess of Devonshire and Lord and Lady Kenyon were among his early sitters, and the record is preserved that Lady Kenyon's likeness was drawn in profile, because, as the child artist declared, "her face was not straight." In a short time he had attracted the attention of Garrick, Foote, Wilkes, Burke, Sheridan and Johnson, and his father began traveling with him about the neighboring country and exhibiting him as one of the wonders of the age.

Ice in Royal Residences.

The stores of ice at Windsor, Osborne and Balmoral are very large. At Windsor there is storage room for about 500 tons. There the supply is obtained from the lake beneath the north terrace, from Frogmore, and from the lake between Frogmore and Virginia water. Ice is not only lavishly used in the royal kitchen, but also for reducing the temperature of her majesty's apartments in hot weather. Then it is packed in pretty wooden buckets and stood in the fireplaces.

Caring for Immigrants.

A government roof garden, 175x150 feet, will be made on top of the immigration building on Ellis island, N. Y. The army of immigrants detained on the island in summer will enjoy the salt air and a panoramic view of the city and sea. A large playground for immigrant children will also be provided.

A Detailed Map of Rock County . . .

Work is now in progress on a new wall map for Rock County. In size it will be 42x47 inches, mounted on cloth, and each township (of which there are twenty) will be neatly colored. The county will be represented on the scale of 1½ inches to the mile and will show the location of streams, lakes, cities, villages, school houses, churches, town houses and residences, public roads and railroads. It w ill also locate the farms, giving the number of acres and the name of the present owners wherever it is possible to do so. As fast as the drawings of the townships are completed they are verified so that the map will be as nearly correct as possible. The work will be of great value to business and professional men and farmers, and should find place in every school house in the county. The last wall map of the county was made a great many years ago, so that this new one will fill a long felt want.
